

Cleaners – we appreciate your work

TODAY is Thank Your Cleaner Day.

If you are a cleaner – at home, in our hospital, at medical centres, schools, workplaces ... anywhere that elbow grease and cleaning agents are used to attack grubbiness – the Beacon salutes you.

We thank you for the work you do, recognising that without you our health and productivity would suffer immensely.

At the BEACON, we are indebted to cleaner Fred Marshall, who arrives three afternoons a week to clean, tidy and fuss over our workplace. Germs quail when they see our Fred – he leaves our workplace sparkling clean especially the smallest rooms in the workplace, and we thank him for it.

Geoff Mercer,
editor

■ The cleaning never stops: P5
